Mrs. Perkins did not give her correct address to the nurse at the Sanitorium and her whereabouts are unknown. Superintendent has not tried to find her, as the mother was continually giving trouble and tried on several occasions to steal her from the home. |

| Phelps, Minerva | orphan | January 1918 | 14 years old. Adopted by her sister 1 year ago. Fell into bad company and was in the Juvenile Court. The superintendent intervened to keep her out of the Industrial School, offering to take her back into the Home. However, she has since ran off back to her sister. |
| Self, Elizabeth | orphan | January 1918 | 14 years old. Taken out by her mother who has married again and is amply able to care for her. |
| Robsinson, Sarah | orphan | May 2, 1918 | Returned briefly to the home. Mr. Huey secured another home for her and she left this morning. Sarah was 11 and very large for her age when she entered the Home in May 1914. She had never been in school. She learned to read and write, but that is all. She disliked going to school with the smaller children, where her lack of education compelled her to be. She seems devoid of ambition, but is a good, industrious girl and glad to go back to the country. The superintendent allowed Mrs. Haley to send Sarah back, because she feels it would be disastrous to compel them to keep her and she was sure she could find Sarah another placement. |
| Northcutt, Ruth | orphan | May 2, 1918 | Returned to the home in February. Placed out again in March in a better home than the one she had been in at first. |

| Herd, Jake | orphan | December 1918 | Set a fire in the boys' wardrobe, which was soon extinguished. He did not realize the enormity of the offense. He is not mentally deficient and still is not a normal child and has given a great deal of trouble at home and at school. The superintendent dreaded the idea of sending him to the Industrial School, and contacted his mother. She had remarried and was able to take him back. |

She jumped from the vehicle with a baby in her arms and saved the life of the little one but did not escape injury herself - one leg was broken. She was taken to a hospital in Shelbyville, Ky. and given every attention by Mr. Wise, the gentleman who had apprenticed her, bearing all expenses. When sufficiently recovered to use crutches she fell and broke the bone again in the same place. Her condition was encouraging at the last report. |
| Hauser, Adeline | orphan | July-September 1919 | Committed to the Home by the Juvenile Court (temporarily, as per understanding with Miss Priest and the father, circumstances recorded in April report).
