August 24—Mr. Polk Laffoon will entertain with a river party Saturday evening in honor of Miss Mary Belle Taylor and her guests.

THE LAST GERMAN.

No more delightful weather could be found for dancing than the present cool spell, and tonight's german at the Country Club promises to be one of the most pleasant of the series which has been given by the club to its members.

This will be the last of this appreciated series. It had been decided to not give the last german this week, but wait until later. The presence here of the four attractive visitors at Miss Mary Belle Taylor's caused a change of program, and the german is held tonight in their honor.

RIVER PARTY POSTPONED.

Owing to the inclement weather, the river party to be given last night by Mr. Polk Laffoon, complimentary to Miss Mary Belle Taylor and her attractive guests, Misses Mary Cunningham, Marguerite and Joy Banks and Virginia Lockett, of Henderson, has been postponed until Saturday evening.

Dear Sir:-

We feel sure that you will be interested by the attached important report of Dr. E. F. Ladd, Food Commissioner of North Dakota, which confirms all the positions taken by Dr. H. W. Wiley, Chief of the Bureau of Chemistry, to the effect that most of the whiskey on the American market to-day is an imitation article, and that about the only way to get the genuine unadulterated, aged product is to secure it bottled in bond under the official guarantee of the green stamp of the United States Government.

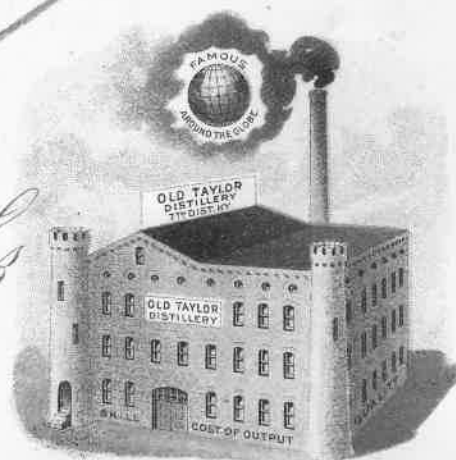

You will notice that OLD TAYLOR bottled in bond is in the picture in which Dr. Ladd has grouped the genuine whiskies.

This brand has occupied the same leading position in all the comparative analyses so far made of whiskey in America, and was used in the famous whiskey test case in London a short time ago as the typical American whiskey.

The revolution which the Pure Food Law will very properly make in the whiskey business of this country is one which we feel sure will be welcomed by all the railroads who take pride in their dining car standards, and therefore it has occurred to us to take the liberty of sending you this report, believing as we do, that it will greatly interest you.

Yours truly,

Encl.

TO THE TRADE:

To-day, October 1st, is the date for the strict enforcement of the National Food and Drugs Act regarding labeling of whiskey.

President Roosevelt, Attorney General Bonaparte and the Department of Agriculture have construed the law.

We are complying with the law as these authorities have officially construed it.

The result of our rigid and exact conformity to authority is security for ourselves and our patrons who handle TAYLOR whiskey bottled in bond.

Notwithstanding the increased cost of production arising from enhanced prices of grain, cooperage, etc., and the great legitimate stimulation of the market on all pure and genuine articles, we take pleasure in informing you that we are continuing our policy of furnishing TAYLOR bottled in bond at exactly the same low casing prices, viz:

One-half gals	$1.40	Pints	$2.05
One-fourth gals	1.60	One-half pints	2.55
One-fifth gals	1.55	One-fifth pints	3.80
		One-tenth pints	5.55

The fact that there is more TAYLOR bottled in bond in proportion to our bonded stocks than any other brand in the United States, we ascribe principally to two reasons:

Firstly: Its incomparable excellence as a fine beverage whiskey, leaving it not more than one or two possible competitors in this country;

Secondly: Our plan of placing it in the hands of our wholesale patrons at such casing prices as to furnish its handlers the best money-maker of all the pure, high grade whiskies on the market.

Yours truly,

Gentlemen:-

The Government is exacting currency or New York exchange for all taxes.

To each individual patron desiring to free a few barrels this exaction is not oppressive.

To us the aggregate would be oppressive.

Pending the existing conditions, which we believe to be temporary, we will thank you to let New York exchange accompany your orders for tax payments, to cover the approximate amount of taxes, Etc., say at the rate of $2.00 per barrel.

Any surplus after paying taxes, we will remit.

Yours truly,

TEA AT THISTLETON.

One of the most important social events of the week was the tea given yesterday afternoon by Miss Mary Belle Taylor at "Thistleton," her lovely suburban home.

"Thistleton" was built for entertaining and has lived up to expectations. Yesterday the entire lower floor was decorated with an eye for artistic tones.

The parlors and dining rooms were beautiful with Southern smilax, festooned around the picture molding and over the doors and windows. Yellow jonquils and tulips were used in these rooms with telling effect. Tall brass candelabra holding yellow tapers lighted these three rooms. Bowls of the tulips and jonquils were placed on the tables, piano and mantels.

The mantels were banked with green and made a lovely background for the early spring flower.

The dining room was in red. Here the lights were supplied only from the red tapers in silver candle sticks. The red carnation ran riot over this room and a mammoth bunch occupied the center of the table. The mints and the ices carries out the color tone.

The punch was served from gaily decorated bowls with bunches of jonquille. At the punch tables Misses Lillian and Henrietta Poyntz, Gladys Rodman, Hattie Fuqua, of Owensboro, and Elise Dandridge presided, and wore a number of stunning gowns.

In the dining room Mrs. Magoffin, Misses Alice and Betsy Blanton looked after the material comfort of the guests.

A delicious lunch was served during the afternoon.

In the receiving line, with the hostess, were Mrs. William Monroe Clark, and Mrs. Arch Dunlap, the guests of honor, and Mrs. C. A. Fish and Miss Marguerite Hamilton, of Covington.

Those who assisted Miss Taylor in welcoming the guests were: Mrs. J. Lampton Price, Mrs. Swigert Taylor, Mrs. Kenna Taylor, Mrs. John W. Ro-

TOURING PARTY.

Few guests visiting in the Capital City, have ever been so lavishly entertained as are the four charming Western Kentucky girls, who are with one of the Capital's fairest daughters. As the third in the series of elegant affairs given in honor of Miss Virginia Lockett Miss Mary Cunningham, Miss Jov Banks, and Miss Marguerite Banks, of Henderson, Miss Mary Belle Taylor's guests. Mr. C. W. Hay, entertained with what might be termed a touring party in the Blue Grass. Coming from the noted Pennyrile section of the State, it was indeed a happy thought to afford to the visitors the opportunity to view the charms of the Blue Grass at their best, and in a style at once attractive and decidedly original.

Mr. Hay took his party in his private car on the Frankfort & Cincinnati railroad to Paris. There a special private car on the interurban line under the charge of Superintendent A. L. Smith, whirled the merry makers on toward Lexington. There a complete tour of the Blue Grass Capital was made, the private car being sent over all the street car lines, and points of interest being pointed out by Supt. Smith, who left nothing undone for the pleasure of the party. From Lexington to Georgetown, the special was then headed. Mr. Smith phoned to all stations ahead and had the right of way cleared in order that he might demonstrate the beauty and thrill of speeding through the Blue Grass land, up hill and down dale, without the dust and smoke of the steam locomotive. The usual schedule between Lexington and Georgetown is forty minutes, but this time was cut exactly in half, for the special was made to "burn the wind" much to the pleasure of the occupants, who enjoyed the sensation immensely.

From Georgetown back home was made in the private car on the F. & C., Frankfort being reached in time for supper at the Capital Hotel, where

Mr. Hay served his guests with a special dove course, the birds being killed especially for this occasion by him and Mr. Pruet Graham.

Those who enjoyed this most charming hospitality in addition to Miss Taylor and her guests were: Misses Elise Dandridge, Lillian Poyntz, Alfee Blanton, and Henrietta Poyntz; Messrs. J. Bacon Blanton, W. Pruet Graham, Polk Laffoon, David D. Smith, Edgar Hume, Lawrence Hager, Edmund H. Taylor, Jr., and Carl J. Quentell.

Tonight Mr. Polk Laffoon entertains for Miss Taylor and her visitors with a boating party up the river.
