"THERE'S A BEAUTIFUL RIVER"

There is a beautiful River that leads to the Sea -
To the Sea of the great over yonder -
To the boundless realms
of eternity
That are waiting for you
and waiting for me,
To the blessed shore
of the far evermore,
Where the loved and the lost now wander.

Some day there will Come unto you - unto me -
The cry "All Aboard, Be steady," and the barge will glide up and we'll look and we'll see
The old Pilot then, and the light of his eye will shine with the sparkles of infinite glee
As he calls us O'er
To the far evermore
with his cry, "All aboard,
I am ready -"

(3)

As we get then Aboard
and Make ready to go, There'll be partings of hearts that are breaking - There'll be friends who will weep when they see us ashore
On the barge that is going to sail the great river deep - and O'er and O'er They'll cry from the shore
as they leave of the land we are taking -

(4)

But beautiful dreams will come to us then,
As the barge goes down
the river and we leave the daily haunts of men to meet with our Lord and lost again on the blessed shore
of the far summer
In the hand of the Master-giver.

And when we are come again to our own on the shores of the boundless Ocean

(5)

and gather in joy about the great throne, There'll be never a tear and never a groan
On that joyful shore
of the far summer
In the home of the heart's devotion -

And then with the lost

now found we shall be awaiting the vessel's new starting,
When the friends we have left shall sail the great sea -

Come over the water to you and to me and 'bide on the shore
of the far evermore
In the land that knows no parting,

Oh! ho for the river that leads to the sea -

To the sea of our great unknowning -

To the boundless realms
of eternity

That are waiting for you
and waiting for me

To the blessed shore
of the far evermore
where the loved and lost are going -

PAINE-ALLMOND WEDDING.

The wedding of Miss Lucille Helen Paine and Mr. Marcus Blakey Allmond will take place Saturday, July 31, at 8:30 p. m., at the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. M. H. Paine, on Fourth avenue. The Rev. Mr. Ward, of Emanuel Chapel, will perform the ceremony.

Mrs. Charles L. Paine, of Indianapolis, will be the matron of honor. Miss Mary Pahls will be the maid of honor. The bridesmaids will be Misses Irene Arbogust and Evelyn Allmond. Misses Viola May White and Edna Lucille White, nieces of the bride, will be the flower girls. Mr. Allen Allmond will be his brother's best man, and the ushers will be Messrs. Kendrick R. Lewis, Paul Whittaker, Roger Brentlinger and Harry Hill.

Pretty Home Wedding; Paine--Allmond.

Miss Lucille Helen Paine and Mr. Marcus Blakey Allmond were married last evening at 8:30 at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. M. H. Paine, Fourth Avenue.

The Rev. Mr. Ward, of Emmanuel Chapel, performed the ceremony.

Mrs. Charles L. Paine, of Indianapolis, was the matron of honor. Miss Mary Pahls was the maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Misses Irene Arbogust and Evelyn Allmond. Misses Viola May White and Edna Lucille White, nieces of the bride were the flower girls.

Mr. Allen Allmond was his brother's best man, and the ushers were Messrs. Kendrick R. Lewis, Paul Whittaker, Roger Brentlinger and Harry Hill.

The bride, who entered with the groom wore a beautiful gown of bridal satin veiled in chiffon. The bodice was cut V neck and was developed in chiffon and lace, and made with long shirred sleeves. The skirt round length, was made with overskirt of chiffon trimmed in bands of satin. The court train of satin was caught at the shoulders with pearl ornaments. Her veil was of tulle and arranged with cap of pearls which was stayed with a band of white tulle drawn under the chin. The wedding bouquet was a shower of lilies of the valley and Panama lilies, which she carried from a ring wrapped in green.

The matron of honor wore a charming costume of white embroidered net, the bodice made with bolero of apple-green tulle. She carried Ascension lilies arranged in a loose bunch.

The maid of honor's gown was an effective ecru lace over pink satin, finished with a pink satin girdle. She carried a bunch of pink gladiolas.

The bridesmaids wore French flowered organdies trimmed in Val lace. They carried garden baskets filled with cut garden flowers.

The little flower girls wore white lingerie dresses with pink and blue sash and hair ribbons.

The ceremony was performed in the living room in the alcove, where a canopy of greens had been erected.

The musical program was arranged by Mrs. Frederick Harig, who was the accompanist on the harp. Mrs. Harigs was assisted by Miss Mary E. Watts who sang "O Promise Me," with violin obligato, played by Mr. Chester Watts.

During the ceremony Mrs. Harigs played "Believe Me."

The ceremony was followed by a reception and the house was beautifully decorated in potted plants and golden glow.

The bridal table was in pink and white gladiola, being the cut flowers used. In the center of the table was a huge wedding cake and the ices and confections were in pink and white.

Mr. and Mrs. Allmond went East last evening, and on their return will be with the bride's mother.

City Deaths

MARCUS B. ALLMOND.

Mr. Allmond.

Member of the Louisville Real Estate Board and president of M. B. Allmond & Co., Marcus B. Allmond, 51, of 1361 S. Fourth, died Sunday, Waverley Hills Sanatorium. Surviving, daughter, Miss Lucille; brothers, W. Meade and Allen E.; sisters, Mrs. James D. Eakin, Mrs. T. C. Marshall. Services, 11 a.m. Tuesday, Pearson's; Cave Hill Cemetery.

CHURCH WEDDING.

Miss Evelyn Allmond and Mr. Thomas C. Marshall Married Friday.

THE marriage of Miss Evelyn Allmond and Mr. Thomas C. Marshall was solemnized Friday at the Emanuel Chapel. The Rev. R. U. Ward, rector of the chapel, performed the ceremony.

Mrs. Marcus B. Allmond was her sister-in-law's maid of honor and Mr. John Marshall was Mr. Marshall's best man.

There were two ushers, Messrs. Allen Allmond and McAllister Marshall, the only other attendants being the flower girl, Miss Mary Brent Marshall, and the ring bearer, Master Basil Doerhoefer.

The central aisle at the church formed a pathway through waving asparagus plumosa, as each pew was decorated with graceful bunches. The chandeliers were also entwined with the plumosa. The wall in rear of the chancel was covered with boughs and the chancel itself was a bower of potted palms and ferns, overshadowing the many bouquets of autumn dahlias.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her brother, Mr. Marcus Blakey Allmond, who gave her away. Her wedding gown was of ivory silk tulle, mounted over ivory satin. The bodice was of the same material, finished in point Venice lace, with pearl ornaments. The skirt consisted of loose satin panel, edged with tulle and tulle flouncing trimmed in satin. The court train of ivory satin was fastened to the shoulders by pearl ornaments. Her veil was attached to a Juliette cap of pearls to match the trimming of her dress. She carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley.

The matron of honor wore light blue pussy willow taffeta, made with full skirt trimmed in small fluted ruffles, the bodice of shadow lace and tulle edged in pearl trimming and a band of pink roses, buds and black velvet ribbon from the waist over the right shoulder. She wore a black velvet picture hat, covered in jet and lace, turned up in back with black bird of paradise. She carried a garden basket of pink dahlias, the handle tied in pink tulle.

The flower girl wore a lingerie frock of white lace, empire fashion, with a sash of blue tulle with a large butterfly bow in back. She wore a band of blue tulle in her hair. She carried also a basket of pink roses. This was tied in pink tulle.

The ring bearer was dressed in white and carried an ascension lily bearing the ring.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall left for the East and will visit relatives in Pittsburgh, Washington and Baltimore, and upon their return will be with the bride's mother, Mrs. Cary Meade Allmond, at 4556 Second street, Beechmont.

My dear Cousin:

I appreciate your writing me regarding the film of your family history. Personally I am interested in it because my mother was Ellen Blakey, a sister of Clayton B. Blakey, lawyer of Louisville who knew your father. He used to tell us about Marcus Blakey Allmond when he came home to Auburn to visit us when I was a child. Uncle Clayton thought very highly of him. <sup>Thank you too for the clipping from C.F. editorial, and your photostat.</sup>

Then we will be glad to have the film for our Kentucky Library which is a large and interesting collection of Kentuckiana housed in a separate building with a Kentucky Museum.

I am a sister of Blakey Helen and Thomas O. Helen of Louisville whom you may know.

My aunt Louise Blakey and I are starting on a vacation trip. But if your film arrives while I am away, it will be taken care of and I will acknowledge it. Many thanks. Yours sincerely, Marian Helen, Director of Library Services.

Dear Mr. Allmond:

Thank you for the photostat of your genealogy for our Allmond file. I am especially interested in seeing your Blakey line back to Churchill Blakey and Sallie George, who are also my ancestors.

I am descended from their son, Thomas and you from their son John. Do you have the names of John's other children and whom they married? I should like to have a copy of this information if it is available sometime.

Many thanks.

Yours sincerely,

Mr. Almon:

Morton's Gap is in Hopkins Co. Looking at such records of Hopkins as we possess, I see a number of Almon references, and this suggests that you would learn more about the family by seeing as much Hopkins Co. information as possible.

With particular reference to Samuel, I see in Hopkins Co. marriage records that a Samuel Almon Marr. Mary W. Gunn Jan 31, 1839. Sam Aldmon is mentioned in the 1816 county minute book. H.K. Gordon's Hopkins Co. History notes that Samuel Almond owned 2 horses and 400 acres on Pond River in 1807, and was one of many county road section surveyors about 1813.

Samuel Aldman is listed in the 1810 Kentucky census in Hopkins Co; Samuel Almon in 1820; Samuel Almon in 1830; and Samue Almon in 1840. In the latter year, Thomas Almon is listed also in Hopkins.

Dear Ms. Enfield:

Your letter has been turned over to me from Trace Kirkwood of our manuscript Dept. for reply. I am the in-resident genealogist, and try to answer inquiries such as yours.

One hour does not allow extensive searching, but with what time that I have had, let me tell you of what I have found.

In J. Stoddard Johnston's Memorial History of Louisville, Vol. 2, I have found a good biographical sketch of Angus Rucker Allmond. ( I enclose a copy) From this I was able to verify the parents as Alfred Dismukes Allmond and Jane Allen Blakey, which you had given in your letter. It goes on to say that Alfred's father was a Mann Allmond.

Angus Rucker Allmond married in Nashville Tennessee 1895 Stella Eakin. Stella was the daughter of Spencer Eakin and Ms. Ewing, daughter of Andrew Ewing and Rowena Williams. Another daughter of Andrew and Rowenca married Henry Watterson.

In your letter, you had stated that the brother of Angus was a Marcus B. Allmond of Louisville. I have found a death record of Marcus and it gives his parents as: Marcus Blakey Allmond and Virginia Cary Meade.

In checking in our burial registers for Cave Hill, I do find Marcus Blakey Allmond, and he died 11-30-1937. (a copy of his death certificate is enclosed) His father Marcus Blakey is listed in Cave Hill and he died Sept. 3, 1909 and his mother Virginia Carey. Virginia died 6-15-1921. I do not find a death for Alfred Dismukes Allmond in Louisville, but a Jane Allen Allmond is listed in Cave Hill and she died in 1892.

I am unable to find a burial or death record in Ky. for Angus Rucker Allmond. Even though it appears he was in Louisville in the late 1890's. Perhaps he went back to Tennessee where his wife was from.

I do hope this will be of some help to you, and if I can help you again, let me know.

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. Kirkwood,

You must think I'm crazy for writing you again, but I realized that I neglected to include my check in my previous letter to you. Please find it enclosed now.

As long as I needed to send you another envelope, it occurred to me that I should have asked you a couple more questions.

As you look for materials on my great-grandmother, I should have told you her married name was Mrs. Angus (Stella Eakin) Allmond. They lived in Kentucky for awhile at the turn of the century, so maybe there's something on her or her husband, Angus. His brother lived in Louisville and ran the Male High School, I believe. He was Marcus B. Allmond, a scholar of ancient languages and an author of several books. Their parents were Alfred Dismukes and Jane Allen Blakey Almond. (Note that Marcus and Angus added a second l to Allmond, while their father chose not to change his name.) They moved there just after Civil War and are buried in Cave Hill Cemetery. It would be neat if you could find anything on any of them.

One other request; this time regarding old books. Do you know of Memories Over the Water, an account of a European trip in the 1850's? It has an introduction by Judge Edwin Ewing, another ancestor. It was written by Wm. Randall McGavock. The paper I have says it has been republished by Dr. Herschel Gower under the title Pen and Sword. I would be thrilled if I were able to read these publications. Is it possible The Filson Club has either OR knows how I can get either??

I can't begin to tell you how happy everyone in our family will be if you are able to uncover any hidden treasures on our ancestors. Thank you immensely.

Sincerely,

Sandy Enfield

Mrs. Allmond

Burial services for Mrs. Stella Allmond, 89, of 1408 W. 34th Ave., who died Monday, will be in Forest Lawn at Los Angeles.

Cremation was at Forest Lawn Wednesday, with arrangements by Albers Funeral Home, Arcadia, Colo.

She was born in Nashville, Tenn., June 8, 1871, and went to school there. She was married to Angus Allmond at Louisville, Ky., in 1895, and moved with him to the Denver area in 1913. Allmond died in 1935.

Mrs. Allmond is survived by two daughters, Mrs. William A. Helling, Denver, and Mrs. George Enfield, Phoenix, Ariz.; a sister, Mrs. Edward Bourne, Pass Christian, Miss.; a brother, Deery Eakin, Shelbyville, Tenn.; five grandchildren, and three great-grandchildren.

The following is clarification of the connection between the Allmond family of Kentucky, and the Almond family of Virginia:

I quote from a letter just received from Harry F. Allmond of Washington, D. C.

"As you know, your father came to Louisville first, and after being called Mr. Almon and other pronounciations of the name 'Almond', and being an educator, he decided to officially have another 'l' put in the name and thus to be able to get the proper pronounciation 'Allmond'. When the rest of the family followed him, we decided he was right. Father agreed it was all right, but he being 67 years of age and his father and brothers still living in Virginia would censor him for it.

"When father died, his name appeared as Alfred D. Almond, Secretary of the Baptist Theological Seminary, and your father's name as Marcus B. Allmond who is the writer of the sketch of Father's life.

"Our ancestors came from England over 200 years ago, and settled in the tidewater country of Virginia, and the name was always pronounced as it was spelled with two ll's. When your great-grandfather, Mann Almond and his brother, Edward became of age, they decided to go over the Blueridge Mountains and begin their business life. They reached the site of what is now Luray, Virginia. Mann Almond decided to open a general merchandising store there and Edward decided to build a mill about a mile south. They both prospered and the country thereabout rapidly became settled. This was in the year 1816. Both of the brothers married daughters of prominent farmers. Your grandfather was born in 1818, and was followed by six brothers and two sisters and his brother, Edward, had five children. Soon the valley was practically owned by them. Most of what I have written can be found in the Baptist Seminary Magazine of April, 1897.

"In reference to the present Governor Almond of Virginia, he is a distant cousin of ours. His great-grandfather and my great-grandfather were brothers. He is a fine gentleman, and I am glad to have him related to me."

The above quoted material is for historical record as furnished me by my uncle, Harry F. Allmond, of Washington, D. C. under date of August 12, 1958.
