To Major Colby.

Everything quiet here. Election here yesterday endorsed the Social Democrats. Semenoff officers allowed to attend the election on condition that they behave themselves but not allowed to vote. Soldiers voted. About 500 votes cast. Three railroad men and two village citizens were elected as a local government to hold office until such time as there is a general election.

Colonel Morrow:

Highly respected Colonel. I have received reports that you have had doubts as to the free and undisturbed transportation of the Czech Armies through the Zai-Baikal District. I give to the Allies the guarantee free and unhindered evacuation of the Czech Armies and Allied Missions to the East. But on account of the doubts you showed I declare again and ask you to believe me that this will be fulfilled and that I have already taken all measures and have given all orders to my subordinates, so that the evacuation can be carried out freely and without any disturbance. Everyone who will hinder this I will punish with all severity of the law. I have had some strong conversation today with the American High Commissioner and gave him the same promise and besides that reports have been received that not everything is quiet in Verkhne-Udinsk yet. Intoxicated Czech soldiers are seen on the streets and among the Russians are meetings and gatherings, this last is forbidden under the present conditions. In the strength of the friendly relations between us, I beg you, Colonel, to assist the Russian Armies and the citizens powers to uphold the peace and the order in the city and to stop once for all the disorders created by intoxicated soldiers and the working-men. I beg you to accept our sincere and unchanged feelings of friendship to you.

C. H. Morrow,
Colonel, 37th Infantry.

Much respected Colonel:

There is spread all over the city a very sad news, that you and the trusted to you 37th U. S. Infantry, are going to leave our city, for a new station of service.

Under the influence of this news, the Verkhne-Udinsk City Administration as an institution trusted with the confidence of the citizens cannot deny itself the pleasure to express frankly and straight all the sentiments (feelings) which distrubs our minds at present in connection with your departure.

The sincere desire to help our much suffering country in its hard times with all means and ways at your disposal, your warm and friendly interest in the needs of the poor and hard-favored and to the last the constant desire to preserve order and right-these were the most striking points, which accompanied all your untiring and energetic activity in the city of Verkhne-Udinsk. Following firmly that policy, you made your brave men and officers follow the same policy, beginning from the highest ranking officer to the private inclusive.

No wonder that the local citizens were quickly in sympathy with you and your regiment and became accustomed to see in every American soldier a real defender, protector and sincere friend. No wonder that, when in trouble, all of us, without hestiation, went to you for help, knowing that we would not receive a cold refusal. Now, no wonder, that the parting with you fills our hearts with sorrow. But together with this sorrow, there burns a glowing flame of deep gratitude to you for all the good and fine things you have done for us.

And the Verkhne-Udinsk City Administration in name of all citizens cordially requests you, much respected Colonel, to accept this gratitude and thanks and also a farewell regard with the best and most good wishes.

The name of Colonel C. H. Morrow will remain in the memory forever of the Verkhne-Udinsk citizens. They also will never forget the glorious 37th U. S. Infantry.

HEADQUARTERS TWENTY SEVENTH INFANTRY

Chita, Siberia, February 7, 1920

General Suzuki, I. J. A.,

Chita, Siberia.

My dear General:

I just arrived at station Chita No. 1. Due to the lateness of my arrival I find I must deny myself the honor and pleasure of calling on you as I had planned. As my leading echelon must now be at Vladivostok and my nearest troop echelon is two days away, I must proceed from Chita with the least practical delay.

Colonel Parker, R. R. S. C. called on me tonight and informed me of the great assistance and support given him by you and General Hoshino. Prior to his departure from Verkhne Udinsk I had assured him that he could rely on you to do everything in your power to assist in the evacuation of the Czechoslovak troops; you can understand therefore how pleased I was to receive his report. The Japanese station commandants have shown me the greatest possible courtesy. At Mogyon the station commandant at my request came to my car at one o'clock in the morning to aid me in securing a proper order in the movement of echelons; he did assist and support me fully.

You of course knew of my friendly relations with General Ogata. I should also like you to know that I consider him not only one of the most courteous men I have ever met but also one with an unusually clear understanding of the Russian official and the present situation in Siberia. I desire to express to you my great appreciation of the courtesy and assistance extended to the Americans in the Baikal by the Japanese officers and men under your command.

I am sorry that I shall not have the pleasure of meeting General Hosino, but as I shall not do so I take the liberty of requesting you to express to him my thanks for the courtesy and assistance extended by him to Colonel Parker.

With the best wishes for a successful accomplishment of your mission in Siberia I bid good-bye to you, your officers and men.

My dear Sir:-

It was my great pleasure to meet you and your other officers at Sabraij last Saturday night - I never had such an enjoyable evening since I came to this little station in Macchusia. I always take an American as my ready friend. I hope such a feeling is mutual, not only individually, but the whole nation as well.

I was very sorry that I was not able to see you off on account of the bad effects after having drink very much liquor. I hope you have a very nice trip to Vladivostok, and from whence a pleasant sea voyage to Philippines. Though we have met and stayed only a few hours, your personality and actions have proven to me a very sincere friend. I wish some day you will come back to see that our young set has risen to bawer and make China a great sister republic to U.S.A.

Regards to every body who are with you, and I hope, if you don't forget our dear friendship, drop me a line or two when you have leisure.
Yours very cordially

Dear Colonel Morrow:

Due to the great pressure of work thrown upon the Red Cross as the result of our part in the late War, we have neglected until this late date to acknowledge the services rendered by those who assisted in the relief work carried on in China during 1917 in connection with the Tien Tsin floods.

The records of this work have recently come to my attention and I cannot permit them to pass into our permanent files without expressing to you on behalf of the American Red Cross our very deep appreciation of the services rendered by you upon that occasion. The work accomplished by you and your associates reflects great credit upon all who participated in it, and the Red Cross feels very grateful to those who made our part in this undertaking so successful.

Yours sincerely,

Budapest, IX. Dömag- u.
December 10th 1920

Dear Sir,

I reached my native country in safety on the 11th of September and I feel that my happiness and piece of mind are not complete before having communicated this to you.

We had hard times after you left us and we often thought of you and of all you had done for us. I tried several times to write to you, but all my letters were returned. It was only in Vladivostok that I succeeded in handing some letters and an album for you to Colonel Winterberg, who promised to see them safely delivered into your hands. I wish to send you from my home my warmest greetings and most heartfelt thanks and to tell you, that I shall not rest before having made known to all the world, how much you and your officers have done for poor destitute war prisoners, and how you succeeded in reawakening vital energy, courage and joy in the hearts of men, who were on the verge of despair.

By the end of this year all the prisoners of Yrasnaja Rieitschka will be at home, all of them, with few exceptions, sound in health, all fit and fit for work. In our unhappy country there is no lack of work, and we who have learned from you to love and value it, shall do our best to rebuild in a new and better form what has been destroyed.

The name of Colonel D. G. Morrow will never be forgotten by any of us as long as we live, and our hearts are deeply moved with love and gratitude whenever we read it in one of the newspapers in connection with the good work done for the prisoners of war.

I have seen many mothers and many fathers with tears in their eyes, when hearing of the sufferings of their sons and of the relief, the help and comfort brought to them by Colonel Morrow.

I am happy to be able to tell you all this and remain with deepest gratitude and kindest regards

yours very sincerely
