The collection also includes a photograph of Hance in military uniform, an address book, and newspaper clippings related to his service and subsequent life events.

Folders 1-6 contain Hance's correspondence with his sister Lucile Hance Farmer of Louisville. His letters frequently mention his romantic interests, including Betty (from his hometown of Warsaw, Kentucky), Patty Greenwell in Louisville, and a young married woman, Peggy Bartlett, in England. Hance's letters also include frequent requests for various items from home, including foodstuffs, cigarettes, and presents for his lady friends. Personal finance is another topic of correspondence, with Hance directing the purchase of bonds and insurance policies; there is also the occasional reference to his gambling habits.

Folders 7-12 consist of Hance's correspondence with his sister Doris and her husband Clint Vaught of Warsaw, Kentucky. ## Biographical Note

Robert "Bob" Milton Hance was born January 6, 1918 to Milton Lee and Inda Darneille Hance, the youngest of ten children and the only living son. He grew up on the family farm near Jackson's Landing, Gallatin County, Kentucky. His mother died of cancer when he was 12. In 1937 during the Great Depression, his father committed suicide due to the eminent loss of the farm. After his father's death, Bob lived briefly with a sister, Lucille Farmer, in Louisville.

In July 1942, at age twenty-four, he enlisted as a private into the Army at Fort Benjamin Harrison. He served as a field artilleryman and forward observer with the 224th Field Artillery, 29th Infantry Division, which experienced heavy casualties at Normandy. On D-Day, he was dropped behind enemy lines to direct artillery fire. During his time overseas, he frequently corresponded with two of his sisters: Lucille Hance Farmer and Doris Octavia Hance Vaught. He was discharged on September 19, 1945, having attained the rank of sergeant. He was awarded the Bronze Star for his service.

After returning home from the war, Bob worked for a short time as a surveyor and for the U.S. Postal Service. Both jobs were short-lived because of his struggles with alcoholism and PTSD. In 1969, Bob married a woman named Elizabeth K. Phillips, with whom he had one son, Robert Hance. He died on March 15, 1988 at his Dosker Manor apartment in Louisville. He is buried in Warsaw Cemetery.
