

The Filson Historical Society

Prince Charles
Photograph Collection, 2015

For information regarding literary and copyright interest for these photographs, contact the Curator of Photographs and Prints.

Size of Collection:
12 photographs

Location Number:
015PC57

Prince Charles
Photograph Collection, 2015

Scope and Content Note

Collection of 12 photographs of His Royal Highness, Charles, Prince of Wales when he visited The Filson Historical Society, Louisville, Kentucky on March 20, 2015.

NOTE: Additional images were taken during the event and are stored digitally. Images selected are the best that represent the event.

Prince Charles
Photograph Collection, 2015

Historical Note

The one-day stop in Louisville concluded Prince Charles and Camilla's four-day visit to the United States. While in Louisville both the Prince and Camilla attended several events that focused on environmental and historic preservation issues. One stop during his brief trip to Louisville was at The Filson Historical Society where National Trust for Historic Preservation's President and CEO Stephanie Meeks announced the Heart of Louisville as the Trust's newest National Treasure. Meeks presented the award to Louisville's Mayor Gregory E. Fischer and presented Prince Charles with a framed photograph of his grandmother, Queen Elizabeth, the Queen Mother, at Woodlawn (a National Trust Historic Site) in 1952. The gift was intended to commemorate the royal family's longstanding support of historic preservation. Prince Charles spoke briefly about his experiences and success with historic preservation.

Prior to the Prince's arrival, The Filson hosted a panel discussion called "The National Trust for Historic Preservation Presents: Valuing the Built Environment." Speakers included Mark Huppert, John Gill Holland, Jr., and Jim Lindberg who discussed their success with historic preservation.

Prince Charles
Photograph Collection, 2015

Photograph List

Object ID	Date	Description
015PC57.01	March 20, 2015	Photograph of a panel discussion held at The Filson Historical Society by the National Trust for Historic Preservation. The panel was held in conjunction with The National Trust, announcing the Heart of Louisville as the Trust's newest National Treasure and a visit by His Royal Highness, Charles, Prince of Wales. The panel was called "The National Trust for Historic Preservation Presents: Valuing the Built Environment." Orme (Sandy) Wilson III, Past President of the Filson's Board, far left introduces seated panelists (left to right) Mark Huppert, John Gill Holland, Jr., and Jim Lindberg.
015PC57.02	March 20, 2015	His Royal Highness, Charles, Prince of Wales arriving to The Filson Historical Society where Stephanie Meeks, President and CEO of the National Trust for Historic Preservation announced the Heart of Louisville as the Trust's newest National Treasure.
015PC57.03	March 20, 2015	His Royal Highness, Charles, Prince of Wales greeted by The Filson Historical Society's Director Dr. Mark V. Wetherington and Orme (Sandy) Wilson III, Past President of the Board. Prince Charles visited The Filson in conjunction with the National Trust for Historic Preservation announcing the Heart of Louisville as the Trust's newest National Treasure.
015PC57.04	March 20, 2015	His Royal Highness, Charles, Prince of Wales greeted by The Filson Historical Society's Director Dr. Mark V. Wetherington and Orme (Sandy) Wilson III, Past President of the Board. Prince Charles visited The Filson in conjunction with the National Trust for Historic Preservation announcing the Heart of Louisville as the Trust's newest National Treasure.

015PC57.05	March 20, 2015	His Royal Highness, Charles, Prince of Wales (center) entering The Filson Historical Society with The Filson's Director Dr. Mark V. Wetherington (left) and Orme (Sandy) Wilson III, Past President of the Board (right). Prince Charles visited The Filson in conjunction with the National Trust for Historic Preservation announcing the Heart of Louisville as the Trust's newest National Treasure.
015PC57.06	March 20, 2015	His Royal Highness, Charles, Prince of Wales entering The Filson Historical Society with The Filson's Director Dr. Mark V. Wetherington and Orme (Sandy) Wilson III, Past President of the Board. Prince Charles visited The Filson in conjunction with the National Trust for Historic Preservation announcing the Heart of Louisville as the Trust's newest National Treasure.
015PC57.07	March 20, 2015	Stephanie Meeks, President and CEO of the National Trust for Historic Preservation presenting an award to Louisville's Mayor Gregory E. Fischer for the Heart of Louisville being named the Trust's newest National Treasure.
015PC57.08	March 20, 2015	Photograph of His Royal Highness, Charles, Prince of Wales looking at a framed photograph of his grandmother, Queen Elizabeth, the Queen Mother, at Woodlawn (a National Trust Historic Site) in 1952. The photograph was presented to Prince Charles by Stephanie Meeks, President and CEO of the National Trust (far left) to commemorate the Royal Family's longstanding support of historic preservation. Prince Charles visited The Filson in conjunction with the National Trust for Historic Preservation announcing the Heart of Louisville as the Trust's newest National Treasure.

015PC57.09	March 20, 2015	Photograph of His Royal Highness, Charles, Prince of Wales talking after he received a framed photograph of his grandmother, Queen Elizabeth, the Queen Mother, at Woodlawn (a National Trust Historic Site) in 1952. The photograph was presented to Prince Charles by Stephanie Meeks, President and CEO of the National Trust (far left) to commemorate the Royal Family's longstanding support of historic preservation. Prince Charles visited The Filson in conjunction with the National Trust for Historic Preservation announcing the Heart of Louisville as the Trust's newest National Treasure.
015PC57.10	March 20, 2015	Photograph of His Royal Highness, Charles, Prince of Wales commenting on the importance of historic preservation. Prince Charles visited The Filson in conjunction with the National Trust for Historic Preservation announcing the Heart of Louisville as the Trust's newest National Treasure.
015PC57.11	March 20, 2015	Photograph of His Royal Highness, Charles, Prince of Wales commenting on the importance of historic preservation. Prince Charles visited The Filson in conjunction with the National Trust for Historic Preservation announcing the Heart of Louisville as the Trust's newest National Treasure.
015PC57.12	March 20, 2015	Photograph of His Royal Highness, Charles, Prince of Wales commenting on the importance of historic preservation. Prince Charles visited The Filson in conjunction with the National Trust for Historic Preservation announcing the Heart of Louisville as the Trust's newest National Treasure.